The PRB Decision: Critical Distinctions

There's a point in the award-winning film "Roxanne" where a naked woman is locked out of her house and calls upon the fire department for help. The fire chief arrives, tool box in hand, throws her a blanket and proclaims "for every job there's a proper tool." He then puts down the tool box and promptly reaches into his pocket, pulls out a credit card and uses it to open the door. He improvises successfully.
